

Community Awareness Toolkit

2021 EDITION

The NJCAHT has prepared this toolkit to empower communities with knowledge and action that will be the catalyst to end human trafficking in New Jersey.

About the NJCAHT

The NJ Coalition Against Human Trafficking is a volunteer-run, survivor informed 501c3 nonprofit. It is made up of 200 volunteers, and represents over 180 diverse organizations including nonprofits, communities of faith, academic institutions, government agencies, law enforcement, and direct service providers that come together with the goal of ending human trafficking in our state, country and the world, through education, advocacy, and assistance to survivors. We work to serve as the hub of state and community efforts to increase coordination and visibility of New Jersey's commitment to end human trafficking.

MISSION

Uniting NJ Communities to End Human Trafficking

VISION

NJ Free from Human Trafficking

OBJECTIVE

Through partnership, education, advocacy and
assistance to survivors, increase coordination and visibility to end human trafficking in New Jersey.

Human Trafficking Prevention and Awareness

On May 6, 2013, the New Jersey Prevention, Protection and Treatment Act was signed into law, mandating a state observance of January as Human Trafficking Prevention Month, and January 11 as Human Trafficking Awareness Day.

Human trafficking is a form of exploitation and modern-day slavery, which exists in New Jersey. The NJ Coalition Against Human Trafficking (NJCAHT) began a Proclamation Project to encourage individual municipalities to sign proclamations declaring their commitment to bring human trafficking awareness to those they serve. After working with the NJCAHT, the NJ League of Municipalities on November 19, 2015, unanimously approved a resolution that committed mayors throughout the state to do the same. The NJCAHT is resolved to help our municipalities fulfill those commitments during January: Human Trafficking Prevention Month, and throughout the year.

Toolkit Contents

This toolkit is designed for all New Jersey communities to use throughout the year to be equipped in the fight to end human trafficking.

SECTION

Mayors & Municipalities 01

The leaders of our local communities have an essential role to play in guiding constituents to understand that human trafficking can affect anyone, and everyone has a role to play to help prevent it. Municipal leaders can help create safer communities.

THANK YOU to all the mayors in New Jersey for signing the 2015 Resolution, “Urging Local Officials to Provide Leadership in Ending Human Trafficking.” The NJCAHT wants to help municipalities with those leadership efforts. The NJCAHT has an Outreach Committee designed to table at community events, or municipalities can use one of the following actions to bring human trafficking awareness to their community.

Post National Human Trafficking Awareness Day and Prevention Month Messaging: Include the National Human Trafficking Hotline (888-373-7888), text line BE FREE (233733), and publicize local awareness event flyers on your municipal website and social media pages. You can publish PSAs and video shorts on your social media, public access channels, and website. (See Resources for links, and email info@safernj.org for current event flyers.)

Conduct Drives to Help Survivors:

When survivors are rescued, they often have immediate needs of a meal, clothing, and toiletries. Consider placing a donation box in your municipal building asking for new t-shirts, sweatshirts or toiletries. These can be donated to the Statewide Human Trafficking Services or law enforcement. See the “Action for Everyone” section for links and information about gift card drives.

Host a Human Trafficking Training

Request a speaker by filling out the website form at: <https://www.safernj.org/request-a-speaker>.

Check that local law enforcement has had an in-service training. If not, please contact your county liaison to conduct a training session: <http://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/liaisons.html>

Be an Advocate

Advocate for ordinances that make operating a brothel in the guise of a “spa” more difficult.

Students and Schools

STUDENT EMPOWERMENT & ACTIVISM

Locker Slam is an example of a student empowerment program developed by the NJCAHT Education Committee that launches each January during Human Trafficking Prevention Month. Either using magnets for school lockers or virtual stickers for online learning – Locker Slam is designed to be a catalyst for student driven action. Students are invited to engage in conversations about human trafficking and how to prevent it. They can also speak out on social media using #studentsforfreedom. Info: <https://www.safernj.org/raise-awareness-at-your-school>

Joining the NJCAHT Education or Legislative Committee allows for student voices and ideas to be heard. The Education Committee is made up exclusively of students, teachers and administrators/other school employees, and develops innovative programming. The Legislative Committee allows for students to make their voices heard to pass important new laws to raise awareness and support

School Clubs are a great way for students to engage other students. Project Stay Gold and R U AWARE are examples of NJ student-led anti-trafficking movements. They have presented before the Senate and the UN and have won various awards. Students can bring human trafficking awareness to existing human rights and advocacy clubs or start a new abolitionist club in their schools. Project Stay Gold (www.projectstaygold.org) offers a guide for club formation.

PROJECT STAY GOLD

Project Stay Gold was created by students in Jefferson Township who learned about slavery in their history class, and then felt compelled to act when they learned that exploitation and slavery still exists. Those students continue to spread the message and encourage other school groups to do the same.

NJ-based Project Stay Gold Makes it to the Senate:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dilHivMTaQk>

MAKE YOUR OWN PSA

---

Make Your Own PSA or play already created PSAs during announcements sessions on National Human Trafficking Awareness Day (Jan 11) and throughout National Human Trafficking Prevention Month. See Resources for suggested PSAs and video shorts. For example, this PSA was created by a high school junior for her Girl Scout Gold Award project: <https://www.projectheart.info/child-grooming>

NJCAHT JANUARY INTERNSHIP PROGRAM AND SCHOLARSHIPS

College undergraduates can apply for the once-per-year Internship Program which takes place during Winter Break. Applications are available in September and candidates are interviewed in October). Participants create a live event for January 11 – Human Trafficking Awareness Day, and receive a letter of recommendation, volunteer hours, and a wealth of experience in spreading awareness of human trafficking.

The NJCAHT's rolling scholarship program awards several scholarships to current high school seniors attending a college, university, or technical school in the Fall 2021 semester; to current college students; and to survivors of human trafficking (labor or sex trafficking) who are pursuing their GEDs or college. All recipients must be New Jersey based. Information on both programs can be found here: safernj.org/apply-for-interships-scholarships

STAFF

Discover the resources the NJ Dept of Education has developed for teachers and school staff here:

<https://www.nj.gov/education/students/safety/health/ht/>

Sponsor students who reach out to form an abolitionist club such as a chapter of Project Stay Gold.

<http://projectstaygold.org/chapters>

Invite a speaker or survivor from the NJCAHT to speak to individual classes or school assemblies. Presentations are available that are suitable for elementary schools (SAFE book with music, acting and coloring), middle school (the NJCAHT Speakers Bureau is licenced to show “I am Little Red”) which teaches the risks of trafficking in an age-appropriate way), and high school (survivors or volunteer speakers can share non-graphic stories and deliver HT 101 trainings). Book a speaker here:

<https://www.safernj.org/request-a-speaker>

Play Human trafficking PSAs during morning announcements sessions on National Human Trafficking Awareness Day. See “Resources” for examples of PSAs.

Learn about online grooming and how to keep your students safe while they study online. There are age-appropriate resources, recorded presentations and tips here: <https://www.safernj.org/prevent-online-grooming>

Become aware and share that awareness with your fellow staff members.

PARENTS

Parents and guardians do all they can to keep children safe in the real world, and away from those who might harm them, but don't realize that predators are already potentially in their homes via the many devices including cellphone that children have access to.

Learn about the risks and signs of online grooming and how to prevent it here:

<https://www.safernj.org/prevent-online-grooming>

View the age-appropriate videos developed by NCMEC's NetSmartz Program here:

<https://www.missingkids.org/netsmartz/home>

Become familiar with the Seven Strategies the NJCAHT has developed to help families prevent grooming that can lead to exploitation and trafficking:

#1 - Remind children to only interact online and on gaming apps with people they know and trust in the real world.

#2 - Let children tell you about what they love about their games and online lives, and allow them to enjoy all that is good about apps, games and being online. This will help make a conversation about the concerns of online grooming easier to have.

#3 - Warn children not to accept gaming dollars (e.g. V-bucks for the game "Fortnite") from people they don't know and trust. Predators will later come back and say: "now you owe me."

#4 - Review which location markers are visible on children's devices and remove any except the essential ones. Consider products to help monitor some of your children's activity.

#5 - Reduce shame in conversations with children. If they have shared CSAM (Child Sexual Abuse Material) of themselves, they were manipulated in order to do so. Shame is a method that traffickers use to further manipulate, so be supportive instead of blaming the child.

#6 - Make sure you and your child know what to do if they find themselves in an exploitative situation. Look into organizations like NCMEC who can help.

#7 - Spend "device-free" time with your family to boost everyone's serotonin levels, and help children feel good without needing to get "likes" on social media.

Become aware and share that awareness with your children, community, and PTO. For example, share about the issue in "moms" "dads" or "parent/guardian" groups on social media.

Communities of Faith

Essential to ending human trafficking in New Jersey, faith-based communities have already originated many community-awareness initiatives and can continue to lead and engage in all general anti-trafficking actions. Faith-based communities also have a distinguished track record of providing direct services for both international and domestic survivors.

Sample Initiatives from Faith Communities

Unicef has this Interfaith Toolkit to combat human trafficking:

The Washington Inter-Religious Staff Community Working Group on Human Trafficking also has a toolkit for action:

<https://www.umcjustice.org/documents/113>

February 8 has been designated the International Day of Prayer and Awareness Against Human Trafficking by the Catholic Church:

<https://www.globalsistersreport.org/blog/gsr-today/trafficking/sisters-work-against-human-trafficking-55850>

Faith-Based Curriculum

FAAST: Faith Alliance Against Slavery and Trafficking <http://faastinternational.org>

End Human Trafficking Shabbat

Join Jewish communities across New Jersey and host an End Human Trafficking Shabbat. A resource guide that includes Human Trafficking FAQs, a pilot of T'ruah's "Fighting Modern-Day Slavery: A Handbook for Jewish Communities," links to online resources and a calendar of suggested dates are available at www.jfedgmw.org/endhumantraffickingshabbat. If your congregation is interested in participating, email info@safernj.org.

NJ Human Trafficking Task Force Faith-Based Subcommittee

The NJ Attorney General's Human Trafficking Task Force has developed a Faith-Based Subcommittee to engage faith-based communities statewide. More info at <https://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/>

Develop Gap Services

Find the need and fill it. Form trauma-informed support groups. Train your clergy, counseling staff, and members in trauma-informed care (see Resources for links). Use a portion of benevolence funds to provide for the needs of survivors (food pantry, clothing bank, etc.). Network with service providers in your area. Make sure ministry team leaders know the National Human Trafficking hotline number (888-3737-888) and text number (233 733 / BE FREE) and know the red flags of trafficking: https://www.safernj.org/uploads/resource/NJCAHT\_Red-Flags-Postcard\_R.pdf

Media & Social Media

Post National Human Trafficking Awareness messaging with the national hotline (888-3737-888) in bulletins, on social media pages and on websites. PSAs and various video shorts can be used during announcements, as a part of the clergy presentations, and posted on websites (see Resources).

The Amistad Movement – Raising Awareness in Immigrant Communities

The Anti-Trafficking Program (ATP) of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops trains individuals in communities most vulnerable to human trafficking to hold workshops in their communities and provides them with resources including language-specific marketing materials. The Archdiocese of Newark held the first workshop in New Jersey in 2015/2016. To find out more, visit <https://www.usccb.org/offices/anti-trafficking-program/amistad-movement> or call 202-541-3357

Professionals

Use your profession to help survivors

By offering a variety of services – free legal services to haircuts - professionals are using their skills and expertise to serve survivors and to help raise funds for service providers. In some cases, they are training and employing survivors.

Continuing Education

Spend some of your professionally required continuing education hours learning about human trafficking. Invite the NJCAHT to give a training: <https://www.safernj.org/request-a-speaker> .

Online courses are available for a wide range of professions:

<https://humantraffickinghotline.org/nhth-hhs-online-trainings>

<https://www.ovcttac.gov/views/HowWeCanHelp/dspHumanTrafficking.cfm>

Advocate

Speak up for human trafficking awareness training to be added to the state requirements for license renewal in your profession. Work to get university educational requirements to include human trafficking awareness for your professional training.

Law Enforcement

The 2013 NJ Human Trafficking Prevention Protection and Treatment Act mandates law enforcement training regarding human trafficking.

<http://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/downloads/HT-Prevention-Protection-Treatment-Act.pdf>.

If you have not had this training in-service or at the police academy, please contact your county liaison to attend or present a training session:

<http://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/liasons.html>

There are also additional resources on the NJ AG's website:

<http://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/how-to-id-victims.html>.

The Dept of Homeland Security's Blue Campaign offers a variety of resources:

<https://www.dhs.gov/blue-campaign/share-resources>

Travel Industry

Hotel Workers can be trained by ECPAT-USA (an organization that works to stop commercial sexual exploitation of children) and advocate for their hotel to become part of the CODE—an industry-driven responsible tourism initiative. <http://www.ecpatusa.org>

Airline Ambassadors <http://airlineamb.org> trains airline employees in human trafficking awareness, indicators and action.

Truckers Against Trafficking trains truckers to recognize and report human trafficking they encounter at truck stops. <http://www.truckersagainsttrafficking.org>

Other Professions

Banks and Financial Institutions can help law enforcement identify human trafficking. <http://www.americanbanker.com/bankthink/how-banks-can-help-stop-human-trafficking-1075457-1.html>

The ABA (American Banking Association) offer a free human trafficking awareness course to its members: <https://www.aba.com/about-us/press-room/press-releases/aba-launches-new-training-to-help-bankers-detect-human-trafficking>

The Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists offers training certificates: <https://www.acams.org/en/training/certificates/fighting-modern-slavery-and-human-trafficking#overview-ce6f8a18>

Finance Against Slavery & Trafficking (FAST)'s Survivor Inclusion Initiative works with financial institutions and survivor support organizations to address problems and promote financial access to help prevent and remedy modern slavery and human trafficking. <https://www.fastinitiative.org/implementation/survivor-inclusion/>

Healthcare Professionals often interact with victims of human trafficking without knowing it, so training is essential for all those in this field. Also, healthcare workers can join the NJCAHT Healthcare Committee by filling out the form here: <https://www.safernj.org/join-a-committee>.

Many screening tools are available such as this one from the Dept of Health & Human Services: http://www.acf.hhs.gov/sites/default/files/orr/screening\_questions\_to\_assess\_whether\_a\_person\_is\_a\_trafficking\_victim\_0.pdf

Librarians can book the Safe Saturdays Program for Pre-K/Elementary children and their families. Each family receives a book with coloring pages in several languages, along with a sing-along CD. Grants are available to help acquire the books. More information here: <https://www.safernj.org/raise-awareness-at-your-school>

Utility Workers, Realtors, In-Home Service Professionals are constantly in homes so should become aware of the RED FLAGS of human trafficking and can download this postcard: https://www.safernj.org/uploads/resource/NJCAHT\_Red-Flags-Postcard\_R.pdf Call the Human Trafficking Hotline if trafficking is suspected: 888-3737-888 or text 233 733 (BE FREE)

Post HOTLINE posters at your workplace and in break rooms. Download posters here: https://www.acf.hhs.gov/otip/resource-library?f%5B0%5D=type%3Aoutreach\_material

Action for Everyone

SECTION
05

Join the NJCAHT! We are a statewide coalition made up of more than 180 diverse organizations and many individuals committed to END HUMAN TRAFFICKING IN NJ. For more information about events, donations, or to become a member of the NJ Coalition Against Human Trafficking, visit our website at www.safernj.org

Human Trafficking 101 Training

Human Trafficking 101 is a training session that covers the basics of human trafficking including labor and sex trafficking globally and locally, the prevalence of human trafficking in New Jersey, and the coercive tactics employed by traffickers. Members of our Speakers Bureau include law enforcement, survivors, medical professionals, and representatives of various professions.

Book a speaker here: <https://www.safernj.org/request-a-speaker>. HT 101 training sessions also provide opportunities to invite various organizations to host information tables. It is recommended that events include a CALL TO ACTION.

The NJCAHT can be invited to display an exhibit table using the same “request a speaker” link.

Survivor Speakers

NJCAHT speakers are typically available free of charge. However, the NJCAHT asks that survivor speakers be paid an honorarium. This helps them to be financially empowered by a part of their lives that was exploitive. Survivors often have to take time off from their employment to share their stories. Payment for their time will ensure their availability for future survivor-informed programs.

Gift Card Drive

When survivors are rescued, they often are in immediate need of a meal, clothing, and toiletries. Gift cards from all-inclusive stores and fast-food restaurants in denominations of $10 to $20 help service providers and FBI victim specialists assist survivors with their most basic needs. To receive a list of NJCAHT participating service providers or to join in the NJCAHT collective gift-card donation, email info@safernj.org.

SOAP Hotel / Motel Outreaches

Save Our Adolescents from Prostitution (SOAP) is an initiative founded by Theresa Flores, a human trafficking survivor. The NJCAHT has worked with SOAP on over 10 outreaches around the state since 2014.

- More information about SOAP is here: <https://www.soaproject.org>
- Theresa's Story: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=5QW\_nsAjweE
- You can join the NJCAHT SOAP Committee here: <https://www.safernj.org/join-a-committee>

The committee organizes large-scale annual outreaches targeting 100 hotels and motels each time. Volunteers age 16 and over participate in a three-hour training session on human trafficking awareness. Afterward they are mobilized in teams of four to go to hotels, where they give the staff bars of guest soap labeled with the national human trafficking hotline number, information packets, and posters with pictures of missing children from the area. It is common for a hotel staff member to recognize a child pictured on the posters while our volunteers are present. These outreach initiatives have resulted in many rescues by law enforcement across New Jersey and the nation.

Amplify Awareness via Social Media

- Follow the NJCAHT on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram @ASaferNJ
- Find us on LinkedIn via NJ Coalition Against Human Trafficking
- Follow the hashtags: #ASaferNJ - #NJCAHT - #HumanTrafficking and others to help amplify the work of the NJ Coalition and other reputable national anti-trafficking organizations and government efforts to raise awareness.
- During January follow the youth action hashtag #StudentsForFreedom
- During the run up to the Super Bowl follow and amplify #HTChallenge. The Halftime Challenge movement brings human trafficking awareness to the big game. You can post facts and stats throughout halftime (adding “#HTChallenge” to your posts), and even lead a Super Bowl Party HT awareness talk during halftime. Info at: <https://www.safernj.org/raise-awareness-on-social-media>

Raise Awareness Through the Arts

Concerts, fair trade markets, in-home sales parties featuring artisans that support survivors, plays, art installations, sip-and-paint fundraisers, and abolition book club selections are all ways to bring awareness through the arts. You can host an anti-human trafficking movie or documentary in a theater, a community center, or a house of worship. Events like these support survivors and helping organizations.

If you would like vendor and/or artist recommendations for your event, email us at info@safernj.org. Movies, documentaries, and book club suggestions are available in the Resources section. Follow NJCAHT on Facebook, Instagram and Twitter for the latest events in your area!

- <https://www.facebook.com/ASaferNJ>
- <https://www.instagram.com/asafernj/>
- <https://twitter.com/ASaferNJ>

Hotline Poster Drive

Both the NJ Human Trafficking Task Force (NJHTTF) and the National Human Trafficking Hotline (NHTH) provide hotline posters free of charge. These posters serve to both raise awareness throughout the community and to encourage people to report questionable activities they may have noticed. The phone numbers on both posters allow callers to leave anonymous tips. For these resources, contact:

<http://www.nj.gov/oag/dcj/humantrafficking/awareness-posters.html>

<https://humantraffickinghotline.org/get-involved/outreach-and-awareness>

When mobilizing teams to display these posters in public places such as community centers, schools, hospitals, businesses and houses of worship, be sure that they first obtain proper permission.

Community Stand Against Human Trafficking

STAND Against Trafficking events are festive, centrally located, open-air, awareness events where people literally stand to bring human trafficking awareness and invite their communities to join. Speakers and entertainers can include area leaders, artists, musicians, abolitionist organizations, students, law enforcement, elected officials, clergy, and others. Various organizations can represent their stand against human trafficking by hosting an information table at the event. These events can feature fair trade vendors, service provider organizations, universities, hospitals, student organizations, community organizations, and other groups, with actions to engage the community through petitions, hotline posters and art displays. STAND events can be advertised in advance to the local community and through local media.

Here's an article about an NJCAHT STAND event:

<http://patch.com/new-jersey/morristown/stand-against-human-trafficking>.

Walk or Run for Freedom

Join or plan your own Run/Walk. Various organizations plan NJ runs throughout the year to support awareness and service providers. Here are a few:

- <http://theheatfoundation.org>
- <http://www.a21.org>

End Demand

Shared Hope has crafted a pledge and education materials to help: <https://sharedhope.org/takeaction/become-a-defender>

Be an Advocate

Engage in advocacy efforts in support of local, state and national legislation, and sign petitions and amicus briefs (when needed) in support of human trafficking laws.

Work with the NJCAHT to continue to examine New Jersey's laws on human trafficking. Since the NJ Human Trafficking Prevention, Protection and Treatment Act was passed in 2013, the state has been recognized as having some of the most comprehensive laws in the country, but there is always room for improvement. To get involved with the NJCAHT's legislative advocacy work, join the NJCAHT Legislative Committee here: <https://www.safernj.org/join-a-committee>

Advocate for Children

Volunteer to be a Court-Appointed Special Advocate (CASA) and advocate for at-risk children and youth. <http://www.casaofnj.org>

Sex + Money: A National Search for Human Worth After traveling to more than 20 countries to study social injustice, a group of student photojournalists embark on a road trip around the U.S. to “understand how the sexual exploitation of children has become the nation’s fastest growing form of organized crime and what can be done to stop it” sexandmoneyfilm.com.

Sold A feature film adaptation of the globally acclaimed novel by Patricia McCormick. Based on true stories, SOLD, is the story of Lakshmi who journeys from a pastoral, rural village in Nepal to a gritty brothel/prison called Happiness House in Kolkata, India.

Through one extraordinary girl’s story, SOLD illustrates the brutality of child trafficking, which affects millions of children around the globe every year.
